Artist Sues Lieutenant Governor of North Dakota for Money Due for Modeling Roosevelt in Butter.

David Bartlett, Lieutenant Governor of North Dakota was sued in Justice O'Hailoran's court yesterday by Fred Schmol for $375, balance alleged to be due for modeling a figure of President Roosevelt in butter. Schmol alleges that on July 1, last, he contracted with Bartlett to render him service as an artist in forming and mod-odore Roosevelt in butter in an ice box in the Agriculture building at the World's Fair.

Schmol was to receive $475. of which 100 was to be paid on delivery of the skelebon of the figure, and the balance when the figure was finished, he alleges. He has performed the service, but the balance of $150 has not been paid, he says. says.

Mr. Bartlett said last night that the figure was not satisfactory.

toward founding the university that bears his name and thousands to other charities, was recently visited by a burgiar, who awakened him and demanded that he give up some of his wealth.

Mr. Milikin managed to produce 45 cents and explained to the thief just what had become of the remainder of a five-dollar bill that he had procured from the bank that day. The burgiar departed, but not until he had also appropriated the millionairs's watch.

The burgiar was captured and the watch recovered, but the 65 cents had been spent. Upon hearing of this a mass meeting of capitalists was called with considerable flourish by waggish friends of the banker, and subscriptions taken with a view to reimburse him for his loss. No amount more than a nickel was accepted, and when the money had been raised a committee waited upon Mr. Millikin and with much ceremony presented a purse containing 65 cents.

Sensational Wheat Dealings and Labor Outlook Help to Unsettle the Market.

New York, Aug. 19 .- R. G. Dun & Co.'s

may: trade has been somewhat unsettled by sensa-tional events in the wheat market and the lack season, for one thing, reports of wheat and of harmony between labor and capital. It is cotton trop deterioration, fortified by continued wheat price advances, and revisions of quotations notably in iron and steel and cotton woods, breeds a feeling of indecision.

Reports from the great industries show little change during the week. Cotton goods buying at first hands is rather backward, and does not be considered to the same of the same than the purchasing power of the farmer is concerned, prices have risen so sharply that any loss in quantity oromises to be made up, but this obvious fact is not appreciated by those divisors that the purchasing power of the farmer is concerned. those dealers who are making less preparation

Some disappointment is also felt by those who counted on an early resumption of activity in building observations and other industries hampered by labor contriggries. Otherwise, new building observations and other industries hampered by labor contriggries. Otherwise, new by labor contriggries. Otherwise, new power againg nature, in several manufacturing lines. of buyers has not changed, the general disposition being to await developments in other lines.

Woolens are strong and the volume of business is satisfactory, while even in the dry goods division there is evidence of improvement. Staples are now on the market, and marketing with a liberal events of the property of the hide market is very firm, but demand is limited, which produces a certain amount of instability. Notwinstanding the extensive reduction in output since the packers strike began it is noted that there is a considerable accumulation at Western points. Initial is attributed to the poor condition of hides taken on by thesperienced men, and operations of tamberics have been further curtained. Foreign dry index are strong, and fractional advances are quoted. Leather is dull, since factories purchasing little, yet the restricted production maintained frimmess, and in some cases tambers ask advices. Footwear lactories are receiving few aping orders, except for samples, but there is a fair supplementary business for fail delivery.

Failures this week number 25 in the United States, against 25 last year and 24 in Canadia, compared with 11 a year ago.

General for the Interior Department. In two cases the decisions of the department to file on the land in question.

It was explained that these cases are the result of lealousy, in a measure, and that they are brought by persons not so fortunate as to have drawn lucky numbers. However, there is nothing filegal about them.

For Instance, a disappointed homeseeker may know that a man who was successful in drawing a good tract of land does not fulfill the requirements in every respect. He may be less than Il years of age, may not be the head of a family, and may not be an American citizen. If positive proof on any of these points can be produced, the contestant is at liberty to settle upon the homestend, and his once more fortunate predecessor is obliged to relinquish all claim to it.

The rapidity with which these cases were disposed of is an illustration of the manner in which the department.

TO BE BURIED IN NEW YORK. Captain Tulley Was Identified

With City's Early History. Captain Matthew C. Tulley, formerly of St. Louis and identified with the history of the city during the Civil War, will be buried at Adams, N. Y. He died Thursday afternoon near Woodville, N. Y., to which place he went a year ago for the benefit of his health. Captain Tulley was one of the lieutenants of construction of the Eads bridge.

He was also associated with Captain Eads when the breekwaters and jettles at the mouth of the Mississippi were built. During the Civil War he superintended the construction of river gunboats, and later in the war joined the Confederate Army to superintend engineering works of the armies in the South.

Surviving him in this city are Mrs.

Lebanon, Mo., Aug. 16, 1991.—To the Editor of The Republic: In summing up Mr. Roosevelt's "imperialism," there is one item you overlooked. In the life of R. P. Bland, written by W. V. Byars of St. Louis, Mo., page 86, he says:
"In 1896 Mr. Theodore Roosevelt declared that a number of those who were advocating Mr. Bland's theories of public policy might be advantageously 'stood up against the wall and shot."
